HOLLINS COLLEGE, VIRGINIA, SEPTEMBER 18, 1943

NUMBER 1

DIGEST OF NEWS

Orchestrals to Hold Try-Outs

On October 6, at 7:45 p. m., Orchestral will hold its regular fall try-outs for membership. Anyone who has had experience in modern dance or who has at least some talent for dancing is urged to come to the gymnasium at this time. Those who appear to have some ability and interest in this line will be invited to become apprentices.

Bonnie Turley to Marry

Bonnie Turley, ex-'44, who was to have been the Chief Marshal for the year 1943-1944, will not return to Hollins; she is to be married soon. Emma Read will be in charge until a further appointment is made by President Randolph.

Staff Reporters to Meet

There will be a meeting of all the general reporters of the HOLLINS COLUMNS staff on Monday, September 20, in the French classroom of East Dormitory. At this time the new policy of the paper will be discussed and adopted. Instructions will also be given in new journalistic trends, and a uniform style of writing will be outlined.

War Work is Popular

During the past summer many Hollins students participated in war work. Mary Nolde, Patsy Ryland, Tina Ryland, Carolyn Riggins, and Armin Cay were Nurses' Aides. Elizabeth Hendricks was a junior naval inspector in a war plant near Bristol, Va., and Ann Judson also worked for a factory near home. Neka Thomas was an "aide" at the Hartford Retreat, and Merille Hewitt went in for Victory gardening in a big way on her family's farm.

Student Government begins duties

The formal opening of the Student Government Association will take place in the Little Theatre on Tuesday, September 21, at 7:00 p. m. At this time Mary Frances Smith will greet the whole student body for the first time, Betty Gelbach will explain briefly about the Honor Court, and Dean Smith and Miss Fanona Knox will make a few announcements.

Y. W. C. A. open for Membership

The Y. W. C. A. will begin its activities formally when all members, new and old, come to a membership tea in the Green Drawing Room early in October. Membership in this organization is voluntary; so all who are interested in social work, religious activities, and community welfare are invited to come.

Cox temporary head of Junior Class

Nancy O'Herron, who was to have been the president of the Junior Class, is entering Katherine Gibbs this fall. In her absence Nancy Cox, Vice President of the class, will preside. There will be a re-election soon.

Interesting Convocation Expected

There will be a convocation around the middle of October in which brief sketches of the history and traditions of Hollins will be presented. In addition, movies of various campus activities and of the Centennial Celebration will probably be shown.

13 New Members Join School Staff

With the opening of the one hundred and second session of Hollins, faculty row has its new occupants as well as West Building. President Randolph has announced the following changes in the faculty:

Dr. Harriet Allen returns to her position in the Math Department after a leave of absence during which time she served in the prosecution of the war as a physicist in the Ordnance Bureau of the Navy Department in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Dorothy M. Andrew, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, associate professor of Psychology, comes to Hollins from Pennsylvania College for Women to fill the vacancy left by Dr. McGinnis. Previous to that post she was a member of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin. Her undergraduate and graduate degrees were won at the University of Wisconsin.

Replacing Miss Hall, Miss Paulene Hadaway, of Greenville, S. C., instructor in the Department of Modern Languages, has for the past six years taught German and Latin at Chatham Hall, Chatham, Virginia. She is a graduate of the University of Georgia and holds a Master's degree from the University of Wisconsin. Miss Hadaway studied for two years in Freiburg, Germany.

Miss Helen Wiley Hardy, of Farmville, Virginia, a graduate of State Teachers College at Farmville will assist in the Biology Department. She replaces Miss Sara Harris Taylor.

Miss Kathleen M. Lenz, of Cleveland, Ohio, comes as the new member of the Department of Music. She will teach piano and courses in music theory. She holds her music degree from Oberlin College. Miss Lenz is a cellist as well as being an experienced concert pianist. (Continued on Page 2)

INTRODUCING:

MARY FRANCES SMITH: Our genial Student Government President, when not occupied with business matters, can usually be found in some comfortable place introducing new songs on campus. If not, she's fiddling around on the hockey field, or indulging in her favorite sport, whistling. Whatever she's doing, you'll notice her.

CAROLYN BURT: Next in command is this svelte gal who performs the duties of vice president with a quiet air and flashing grin. She's another you can't miss, but you might look among the jitterbugs in Keller.

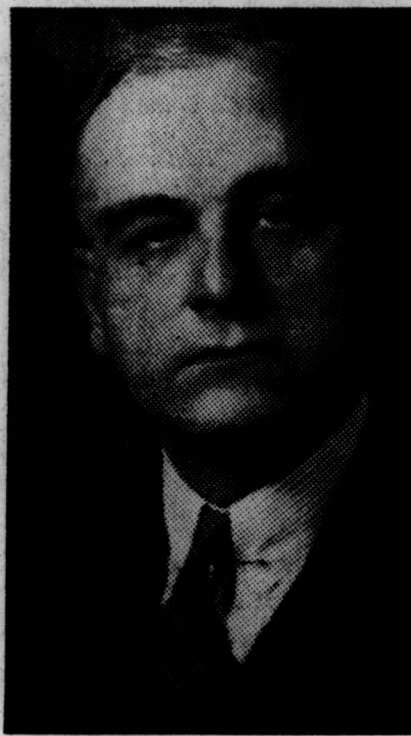

BETTY GELBACH: The Chairman of the Honor Court is the kind that hides among the campus screwballs—you might call her ADA-otic—and only comes out when needed. But if you want her—just hunt for the silliest giggle you ever heard and there she is.

MARY PEARSON: Just look for a wee small girl who hardly looks old enough to be out of high school, and it will be "Pearson" who heads both Legislative Committee and Freya. Most likely she'll be talking about her favorite state, New Mexico.

NEKA THOMAS: Listen to this gal bang out boogie-woogie on the piano or watch her at sports and you'll want to file her for future reference. Besides all that, she manages to be House President of East and Chairman of the House Board.

LOWRY DAVIDSON: Call her "Cis"—you'll know her well enough after she's quieted you down a couple of times as House President of West. But be nonchalant—follow her back to 220 and assimilate some of her pep—she can't use it all.

Don'ts and Do's To End All Boos

Country gals, town gals, hay-seeds and city slickers—that's us, the Hollins Corps, who are at home at 42 Park Avenue, 1613 Elm Street, or R. F. D. 33 No. 1. From every crossroad, hamlet, village, and metropolis, we swarm to Hollins land, each imbued with our own customs. But now, in this Rome of Roanoke County, we must do as the Romans do, even if it comes to wearing togas over that nylon bathing suit!

First of all, Hollins gals will speak to everybody. Don't wait to be introduced; don't greet a friendly smile with a frigid nod, and you'll make more friends more quickly than if you insist upon, "Miss McSwerp, may I present Miss Nasturtium of Cornflower, Idaho. . ." So waive these formalities and give out with the old charm.

Another little matter—don't be petrified of the faculty. In the schools from which you just graduated the teachers may have seemed Simon Legrees with a horse whip in either hand, but at Hollins, where the faculty is not a group set unto themselves, they are considered one of the family. They keep up with campus commotion just as avidly as the rest of us, and lay their own bets against the outcome of the Red-Blue basket ball game, or the Odd-Even hockey game.

There are other important do's and don'ts of Hollins: Do keep moderately neat, don't break quiet hour, do study when you ought, don't miss your exercise. Most important—if you just stay your own sweet old self, with perhaps a touch more of consideration for others than in pre-college days, Hollins will love you as you love it.

Y. W. C. A. to Give Party Tonight

Freshmen, and all you new students, take heed! On Saturday night, September 18, at 8:30 the Y. W. C. A. is sponsoring a stupendous and colossal party for you! Making the plans for this happy event is Ruth McConnell, Vice President of the "Y"! As her assistants, everyone of those cute, original girls on the cabinet are making invitations, decorations, and refreshments!

The theme, of course, is a deep, dark secret! But you new students will know as soon as you get your invitations, and so remember to come in costume. The Sophomore Class will be out en masse to do the honors; so each lucky girl will have a handsome escort. After all, there will be men (?), music, and refreshments! What more could you want! Don't forget—Saturday night at 8:30! Break all dates, cancel all appointments, decline all invitations, and come to the foolish, frolicking, fun-packed Y. W. C. A. party.

Dr. Charles Smith Gives Address

The one hundred and second session of Hollins College opened formally Friday evening, September 17, at 8:30 P. M. Dr. Charles J. Smith, president of Roanoke College, Salem, Virginia, delivered the opening address in the Little Theatre. His subject was "Liberal Education Faces a New World."

All members of the faculty and student body were present. The faculty and seniors entered in a formal processional, the faculty wearing their academic robes, and the seniors their caps and gowns. Dr. Bessie Carter Randolph presided. Before she introduced the speaker, she welcomed the students and introduced to them the new faculty members.

Dr. Smith was educated at Roanoke College, Princeton University, Lutheran Theological Seminary and Gettysburg College. In 1905, he was ordained a Lutheran minister. During the first World War he was a camp chaplain, and was sent to France in 1918. Since 1920 he has been serving as president of Roanoke College. He is a member of the American Association of Colleges and Director of the National Lutheran Council Board of Home Missions. Dr. Smith has spoken at Hollins several times before and the college welcomes him again.

Group Leaders Welcome Freshmen

Group Leaders were on hand Monday to welcome the freshmen to Hollins. In preparation for this day, the group leaders met Friday, Saturday and Sunday to discuss ways of presenting to the freshmen all the sundry facts a freshman must know.

Greeting the freshmen as they left Miss Maddrey's office, group leaders introduced them to Miss Wallace, took them to their rooms, helped them get their closet keys and post office boxes. Monday night each group leader met her "children" and told them a few necessary immediate details. It was at this meeting that the freshmen and group leaders got acquainted over cokes and peanut butter crackers.

Every day this week the group leaders have continued to meet with the freshmen, answering their questions, and, through discussions, giving them an idea of the way Hollins girls live together and govern themselves. Their discussions included such subjects as Hollins dormitory life, academic work, how to use leisure time on and off campus, Hollins organizations and Student Government. Through these meetings, the group leaders have attempted to instill in the freshmen a love and respect for Hollins traditions, ideals, and way of life.

Freshmen Pack Ambition, Ability Along with Braemers, Tweeds

Yes, you, the Class of '47, have included more than clothes among your many trunks, suitcases, and boxes—there is evidence of some of your talents and aspirations, too. According to statistics from the registrar's office, you are a capable group; there are many former student government presidents, sorority leaders, hockey and basket ball wonders, prize-winners in horseback riding, journalistic hopefuls, and talented musicians and artists.

In addition, we have noticed that you appear to be a serious bunch—we hope that you are. You—and all college students everywhere—must admit that you are a privileged group and that with you rests much of the hope for the future. It is your duty to help with responsibilities of this war-torn world, as well as to prepare yourself for sustaining, after the war is over, the ideals for which your country stands. You will have to share—or sacrifice, if necessary—your many privileges and advantages as a cherished group by entering whole-heartedly into the war program on campus. You will also have to study hard and fortify your minds and hearts with the liberal arts that will mean even more than ever before when peace is again supreme.

Of course, there must also be a gay side to life—even in wartime. We hope that you will take full advantage of the many extra-curricular activities offered here. We hope your hopes materialize. We hope you will enjoy yourselves, for we're glad that you're here.

Miss Elizabeth Tyler Painter, of Austin, Texas, will be an instructor in the Department of Biology. She is a graduate of the University of Texas and holds an M. S. degree from the University of Virginia. She is Miss Becker's successor.

Replacing Miss Alexander, Miss Fredrica Kevlin Venable, of Jamestown, New York, comes to join the Department of Chemistry. She is a graduate of the University of Buffalo and took her Master's degree at Emory University.

Miss Eleanor W. Withington, of Claremont, New Hampshire, will instruct in English Composition and English Literature, taking the place of Miss Jacobs. She took her undergraduate degree at Mount Holyoke College and her Master's degree at Radcliffe College.

New members of the administrative staff are as follows:

Miss Gracie P. Gardner, R. N., of Blacksburg, Virginia, a graduate of Roanoke Hospital, will take the position of assistant to the resident nurse.

Mrs. Ida A. Hardesty, of Winchester, Ky., dietitian, received her training at Kentucky Wesleyan College and Kentucky University. Mrs. Hardesty will be assisted in the department by Mrs. Estelle Wellons, of Roanoke, Virginia.

Miss Shirley Henn, of Cleveland, Ohio, comes as an assistant in the Charles L. Cocke Memorial Library. She is a graduate of Hollins College. Miss Jane Ogden, of Roanoke, Virginia, a graduate of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, will be secretary in the office of administration, and assist in the registrar's office. Miss Mary Spence, formerly of Baltimore, Md., now a resident of Roanoke, is secretary in the office of the dean. She is a graduate of the University of Maryland where she has been secretary to the registrar.

Under the Dome

Nobody looks like anybody any more. The new "feather cuts" that have cropped up all over campus have amazed even Miss Chevrax. She puts all Hollins girls into two classes now: those with hair and those without.

Say, Pearson, just how does one go about carrying on an intelligent conversation with a mirrored friend?

After a two-hour gruel with the group leaders our Student Government Prez wiped her brow and sighed "Just what is a syllabus?" Freshman Ann Arnold supplied her with a detailed description.

And did you know that (among other reasons, of course) we are here at Holl Coll "to seek love and adventure"? 'Tis what the syllabus tells us.

We are more anxious than ever to climb Tinker this year now that we have heard Anne Neal's version of the purpose of Tinker Day. Wonder if the man shortage this year will influence the aforesaid purpose in any way.

A few years ago West Dorm nearly fell apart during a storm. Last year it almost burned down because an iron was not turned off. Now what? Does some one have a grudge against it?

Dean Smith wishes to announce that Tinker Day will not come before October the 15th . . . and classes will.

Now, Mary Frances, you know that Oogie's slip never showed.

DON'T BE AMAZED:

That the Civil War is instantly revived 'cause you'll be fighting it your entire Freshman year . . . that you always forget and walk across the seal in the dining room 'cause it isn't a trap-door . . . that the old girls give you the "once-over" lightly 'cause your clothes are cuter than theirs . . . that there isn't enough space for all the beautiful clothes you brought 'cause you'll learn to wear two sweaters and skirts and let the rest lie undisturbed.

INTRODUCING:

violent, counter with a good joke. Her bombastic laughter will disable her for hours.

LILLIAN WINSHIP: This blonde bombshell is President of the Senior Class. Chuckfull of energy, she's tops in all she does—from the bridge table in Keller to the middle of a fussy horse.

MOLLY FINN: A little color contrast between Lil and Molly, but the black-haired President of the Sophomore Class trots around just as fast—most particularly on the hockey field. Also note dry wit.

ARMIN CAY: While not editing the Spinster, "Ahm" will probably be practicing her wiles on a horse. If you're interested, maybe she'll tell you all about her ship—or her shopping for rice in Savannah.

PRISCILLA HAMMEL: The Editor of Cargoes limits not her extraordinary talents to the literary field. Lots of them she expends in creating dumb things for A. D. A. to do.

MARJORIE FAY UNDERHILL: As this paper goes to press, Editor Underhill will settle back with a happy smile. Then, after a good two seconds rest, she'll be up again doing something else—most likely something connected with Orchestis.
